

Deutsche Börse Photography Foundation Prize

History:

Established in 1996, the Photography Prize is one of the most significant arts awards today. Since its inception it has recognised and championed the talents of many of today's most celebrated and innovative photographers and artists.

Each year, a diverse field of photographic and cultural professionals across Europe nominate photographers who have made outstanding contributions to the medium in exhibition or book form in the previous year. From this long list, four projects are shortlisted by an international jury who also select the winner of the Prize.

The Photography Prize has been realised with the generous support of Deutsche Börse Photography Foundation (on-going), Deutsche Börse Group (2005-2015) and Citigroup (1996 – 2004).
